FLOOR DEBATE

March 30, 2004      LB 1089

SENATOR BOURNE:      Right.      Thank you very much, Senator Synowiecki. I think that the idea has some merit. I don't dispute the success of the program out there, but I...my sense is, is that when you look at our out years, and everybody has been talking about it but we haven't done a whole lot about it, you know, we'll make these structural changes either sooner or later, and I think human nature is that you tend to put off what you don't want to do. And these are tough choices. These are absolutely tough choices, and I understand, Senator Baker, that this is...

SPEAKER BROMM:      Time.

SENATOR BOURNE:      ...significant economic development for your area.

SPEAKER BROMM:      Thank you, Senator Bourne and Senator Synowiecki. Senator Wehrbein.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN:      Thank you, Mr. President. I'd like to ask Senator Synowiecki a question, if I...so I don't get out...

SPEAKER BROMM:      Senator Synowiecki.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN:      ...in left field.

SPEAKER BROMM:      Senator Synowiecki, would you yield?

SENATOR SYNOWIECKI:      Yes.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN:      Senator Synowiecki, has this had a hearing or a bill?

SENATOR SYNOWIECKI:      No. No, it's much like what we did last year with LCC, except this does not have the parole ramifications. It does not have the public safety ramifications that the LCC closing did, Senator Wehrbein, because those offenders at the Work Ethic Camp will be coming back to an intensive supervision probation officer. So at the time of the closure, well, in three months...in three months...within three
